Marine Forces Reserve

Lt. Gen. Jack W. Bergman
Commander, MarForRes

Marine Forces Reserve is the headquarters command for all 100,000 Reserve Marines and 289 Reserve units located throughout the United States.

The United States Marine Corps Reserve was established on Aug. 29, 1916, and is responsible for providing trained units and qualified individuals to be mobilized for active duty in time of war, national emergency or contingency operations and provide personnel and operational tempo relief for active component forces in peacetime.

The Marine Reserve team possesses capabilities across the full spectrum of military operations; from humanitarian assistance and disaster relief to the most potent combat forces

As versatile Continental Marines, MarForRes stands ready, willing and able to answer the nation's call on a moment's notice to serve both at home and abroad.

Sgt. Maj. Robin W. Dixon
Sergeant Major, MarForRes

in the world. The command was designated Marine Forces Reserve Nov. 1, 1994 and structured to mirror the active component forces. This established its parity with Marine Forces Pacific and Marine Forces Command, the other two senior organizational entities.

Marine Forces Reserve, the largest command in the Corps, has four major subordinate commands: the 4th Marine Division, 4th Marine Aircraft Wing, 4th Marine Logistics Group, and Marine Corps Mobilization Command.

Serving with great distinction, in every clime and place, Reserve Marines have regularly operated alongside the active component in both World Wars, Korean Conflict, Vietnam War, Persian Gulf War and numerous other conflicts including Operations Enduring and Iraqi Freedom.

In order to keep its fighting edge, Marine Forces Reserve's units participate in numerous large exercises annually in places such as Norway, South Korea, the Balkans, Central America, Thailand and Africa.

The ethos for Marine Forces Reserve is mobilization and combat readiness.

This ensures the men and women of Marine Forces Reserve stand ready, willing and able to answer the nation's call at home and abroad at a moment's notice.

Marine Corps Mobilization Command

Brig. Gen. Darrell L. Moore
Commanding General, MobCom

The Marine Corps Mobilization Command (MobCom) is the sole administrative provider for four distinct and varied sections of the Marine Corps Reserve: Individual Ready Reservists (IRR), Individual Mobilization Augmentees (IMA), Mobilization Training Unit (MTU) members and the Standby Reserves.

IRRs are those Marines who have finished their initial active or reserve obligation and are now members of the Inactive Ready Reserve who muster annually for administrative purposes.

IMAs are reservists who are pre-assigned to a mobilization billet requiring continuous training during peacetime with an active component unit. They drill and perform annual training the same as Selected Marine Corps Reserve (SMCR) Marines.

MTUs are IRRs who perform reserve training in support of their assigned mission. While their duty is performed in a non-pay status, they do earn retirement credit points.

MobCom's mission is to provide ready Marines for individual augmentation to both active and reserve missions.

Sgt. Maj. John R. Jennings

This year marks the 41st anniversary of MobCom. It was during the opening stages of American involvement in Vietnam that the precursor of MobCom was established. Through the years, MobCom underwent a series of name changes, though its initial mission to provide total administrative support for the Marine Corps Reserve continues.

MobCom's mission is to provide ready Marines for individual augmentation to both active and reserve missions. Readiness means that they can contact and field Reserve Marines medically and administratively capable of immediate deployment to global operations.

MobCom's collateral missions include the administration of the IRR, SMCR, IMAs, and Standby Reserves, as well as the development and execution of supporting reserve programs (Peacetime Wartime Support Team and Mobilization Operational Readiness Deployment Test), and a myriad of base installation management and command functions for tenant military organizations on and about the Richard-Gebaur military complex.

The support MobCom provides helps Marine Forces Reserve mobilize rapidly and efficiently, as was proven in Operations Desert Shield/Storm and is evident today with Operations Enduring Freedom and Iraqi Freedom.

MobCom is committed to improving the quality of customer support for Active and Reserve Marines. MobCom provides subject matter experts with common information from which to build, shape, and manage Marine Corps Total Force Administration, combining all facets of active and reserve personnel administration into one team.

4th Marine Division

Maj. Gen. Douglas V. O'Dell, Jr.
Commanding General,
4th MarDiv

Fourth Marine Division is the largest ground combat element in the Marine Corps and is comprised of approximately 20,500 Marines across 37 states.

The 4th Marine Division provides a commander with the personnel and equipment to conduct infantry, artillery and mechanized operations.

Activated on Aug. 16, 1943, this unit was plunged into several famous World War II campaigns including the Marshall Islands, Saipan, Tinian and Iwo Jima.

After peace was declared in 1945, 4th Marine Division was the first Marine division selected to return to the United States. It was deactivated at Camp Pendleton on Nov. 28, 1945. On Feb. 16, 1966, a headquarters 4th MarDiv provides trained combat and combat support personnel and units to augment and reinforce the active component whenever national security requires.

Sgt. Maj. Kenneth A. Elium
Sergeant Major, 4th MarDiv

nucleus of the division was reactivated at Camp Pendleton, and its colors were uncased June 23, 1966.

During Operations Desert Shield and Storm, numerous units were mobilized and deployed to the Persian Gulf Region. These units provided combat personnel and combat support that contributed to the victory of the allied forces.

The 4th Marine Division's primary mission is to provide trained combat and combat support personnel and units to augment and reinforce the active component in time of war or national emergency; and to have the capability to reconstitute the division, if required.

Three infantry regiments make up the division's fighting backbone: the 23rd, 24th, and 25th. This team is reinforced by the 14th Marine Artillery Regiment, 4th Combat Engineer Battalion and 4th Reconnaissance Battalion. The division is further strengthened by the 4th Tank Battalion, Reinforced and also by 4th Assault Amphibian Battalion and 4th Light Armored Reconnaissance Battalion, Reinforced.

To remain ready for mobilization, 4th Marine Division participates in approximately 60 annual training exercises.

Some of these exercises included training in desert, jungle, mountain, urban and cold weather environments. They also maintain the ability to conduct amphibious assaults and security operations.

4th Marine Aircraft Wing

Brig. Gen. R. David Papak
Commanding General, 4th
MAW

4th MAW's mission is to organize, train and equip individual Marines and combat ready groups, squadrons and air defense control units to augment and reinforce active components when required.

Sgt. Maj. Jimmy D. Cummings
Sergeant Major, 4th MAW

The 4th Marine Aircraft Wing is composed of four Marine aircraft groups, MAG 41, MAG 42, MAG 46 and MAG 49. The aircraft groups are supported by Marine Wing Support Group 47 and Marine Air Control Group 48.

At its inception, Marine Reserve Aviation consisted of a few men with obsolete aircraft. World War II saw the activation of 1,278 reservists who fought in the Pacific skies and supported ground operations.

Currently, there are approximately 9,500 Marines assigned to 4th Marine Aircraft Wing.

Their rotary-wing assets include the CH-53E Super Stallion, CH-46E Sea Knight, AH-1W Super Cobra, and the UH-1N Huey. The fixed wing aircraft are the F/A-18A+ Hornet, UC-12 King Air, UC-35C Citation, F-5 Tiger II and KC-130 Hercules.

The 4th Marine Aircraft Wing's mission is to organize, train and equip individual Marines and combat ready groups, squadrons and air defense control units to augment and reinforce the active component when required. They continue to strive toward seamless integration with active units in order to serve as part of the total force.

To make the integration with the active component seamless, 4th Marine Aircraft Wing takes part in approximately 20 exercises annually. These exercises help ensure they will be ready to answer their country's call when needed.

The strength of 4th Marine Aircraft Wing lies in the highly trained and motivated Marines who work behind the scenes performing all the necessary duties that keep the aircraft safely operating. From the mechanics, ordnance specialists, air traffic controllers and fire and rescue personnel, safety is everyone's responsibility and one they take very seriously.

It is this mindset that allows the 4th Marine Aircraft Wing to maintain its high operational tempo and outstanding safety record.

4th Marine Logistics Group

4th MLG provides general and direct support and sustained combat service support above the organic capabilities of support elements of Marine Air-Ground Task Forces.

Brig. Gen. Eugene G. Payne, Jr.
Commanding General, 4th MLG

The Marines and sailors of 4th Marine Logistics Group provide a full range of critical logistical support needed to keep the Marine Forces Reserve units fully combat operational.

The mission of 4th Marine Logistics Group is to provide general and direct support and sustained combat service support above and beyond the organic capabilities of a Marine Air-Ground Task Force (MAGTF). The MLG provides support to MAGTF units both in garrison and during amphibious assaults and subsequent operations ashore. They are capable of providing global service support in multiple locations around the world. Fourth MLG's functional capabilities lie in six main areas: maintenance, supply, transportation, medical services, dental care and engineering support.

The 4th Force Service Support Regiment headquarters was activated

Feb. 6, 1966, at the Armed Forces Reserve Center in Midland, Texas. In January 1968, the headquarters relocated to the Marine Reserve Training Center, Orlando, Fla., and then to the Navy and Marine Corps Reserve Training Center, Atlanta, Ga., during 1971.

In May 1976, the unit was re-designated as the 4th Force Service Support Group, Fleet Marine Force. The headquarters remained in Atlanta for 10 years, then moved to Marietta, Ga., in 1987. The flag of the 4th Marine Logistics Group has been located in New Orleans since February 1992.

The group consists of Headquarters and Service Battalion, 4th Maintenance Battalion, 4th Supply Battalion, 6th Engineer Support Battalion, 4th Landing Support Battalion, 6th Motor Transport Battalion, 6th Communications Battalion, 4th Medical Battalion and 4th Dental Battalion.

Sgt. Maj. Kim E. Davis
Sergeant Major, 4th MLG

In recent years, 4th MLG has evolved into an operational level logistics arm for the Marine Corps through its Marine Logistics Command (MLC) and the attendant operations center. The MLC is designed to provide a "warm start" capability that facilitates a rapid transition from peacetime potential to real-world, real-time execution of needed operational logistics capacity during wartime.

This diversified command is comprised of more than 10,000 Marines and sailors in more than 50 locations across the United States, with more than 150 Military Occupational Specialties represented. These Marines and sailors keep their skills sharp by participating in a multitude of exercises throughout the United States and around the globe in addition to providing regular combat service support for the Global War on Terror.

An Allegiance to Corps and Country

Community Involvement

MarForRes is allied with local communities nationwide, telling the Marine Corps story and imparting our Core Values of Honor, Courage and Commitment.

The Marine Corps depends on the willing, enthusiastic and informed support of the American people to accomplish its mission. Therefore, establishing and maintaining good relations with our local communities is an important responsibility for all Marine Forces Reserve units.

Because our Command is located in cities and towns across the nation, the men and women of Marine Forces Reserve are uniquely positioned to "Tell the Marine Corps Story" to those of our fellow citizens who typically have little or no contact with the Marine Corps.

The ultimate goal of all community relations programs is to increase the public's understanding of the Marine Corps, the high quality of our personnel, and the vital role we play in the security of the United States.

Marine Forces Reserve Community Relations Programs take many forms and can vary to fit the characteristics of different communities. Reserve Unit Commanding Officers must get to know the community around their unit in order to design a community relations program that will be effective in their area.

Our annual Toys for Tots Campaign, MFR Band New Orleans, Young Marines, Speaker's Bureau, Color Guards and equipment static displays are all parts of successful community relations programs. In addition, Marines are encouraged to support and participate in civic, volunteer and charitable organizations to improve the local quality of life.

Marine Forces Reserve Community Relations Programs help our command stay ready, willing and able and ensure the Marine Corps continues to be held in the highest esteem by the public we defend.
